President Woodrow Wilson.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

The eyes of an entire nation were turned on Washington yesterday, fully expecting a declaration of war when President Wilson read a message to Congress asking for power to use the armed force of the United States in Mexico. In spite of the belief that the President would declare war against Mexico, following the refusal of Huerta to salute the American flag by Sunday evening at 6 o'clock, the Nation's Executive made the brief statement that "there would be no war."

The new conditions proposed by Huerta regarding the apology for the offense committed several days ago when blue jackets flying the American flag landed in Tampico for supplies, were arrested by Mexican soldiers and paraded through the streets, were not acceptable by the United States, consequently he was given a limited time to comply with the demands of this country and fire a salute of twenty-one guns.

President Wilson asserted yesterday that the issue was between the United States and Huerta and the Mexican government was not responsible. Whether it is the intention of the officials of this country to await the arrival of the fleet which is steaming toward Mexican waters, before making a direct step, is not known, but it is the evident intention to seize the cities of Vera Cruz and Tampico. This, perhaps could be done without bloodshed and the seizure of the custom houses at both ports would mean the cutting off of a great portion of the revenue with which Huerta is now carrying on the war.

All of Washington is stirred over the talk of war and daily papers issued extras every hour yesterday. The situation is strained to a critical point and very grave, according to dispatches, but the President declares he "has not lost patience."

WASHINGTON, April 20.—At 3 p. m. sharp, President Wilson delivered his address to Congress asking for approval to "use the armed forces of the United States in such ways and to such an extent as may be necessary to obtain from General Huerta and his adherents the fullest recognition of the rights and dignity of the United States."

Just as soon as the joint session had dissolved this resolution was introduced in the House: "A joint resolution justifying the employment of the armed forces of the United States in enforcing certain demands against Victoriano Huerta."

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled: That the President of the United States is justified in the employment of the armed forces of the United States to enforce the demands upon Victoriano Huerta for unequivocal amendments to the Government of the United States for indignities committed against this government by Gen. Huerta and his representatives."

"NO WAR" SAYS WILSON.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—President Wilson told the Washington correspondents today not to get the impression that the United States was going to have war with Mexico.

He pointed out that under no circumstances will the United States fight the Mexican people; that it was their friend.

Mr. Wilson said he was going to Congress to tell of a special situation and to ask approval of plans to meet a special situation.

He declared the issue was only one between the United States and a man who calls himself President of Mexico.

The President said the intention of the United States was to help the people of Mexico and that he had gotten a feeling of uneasiness when he found newspapers fired with enthusiasm for war. Mr. Wilson declared he did not want war, but justice, and that he did not consider such acts of reprisal as are planned, acts of war, but measures short of war and sustained by precedent.

The President said that in reality he was going to Congress on an occasion for which strictly speaking, it was not necessary to obtain authority but that it was his desire to have the full co-operation and thought and purpose of Congress.

The President emphasized that he had not lost his patience with Mexico, for to lose patience seemed to him an act of weakness on the part of a person strong enough to do as he ought, but that he left such incidents as recent ones might go from bad to worse and eventually bring about a state of conflict.

COULD THIS BE TRUE?

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, April 20.—Generals Villa and Carranza are conferring today with Don Miguel Acuña, Huerta's official representative, over plans for joint action against the United States. Villa arrived here from Torreon on a special train. This morning, Acuña, who came from Juarez, joined Villa here and a conference was arranged with General Carranza. It is believed that the large quantities of ammunition and arms now being rushed over from the United States are intended to be used by Federals and Constitutionalists in a joint resistance of invasion by United States troops.

CALL FOR KENTUCKY TROOPS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The three regiments of State militia constituting the Kentucky National Guard are to be immediately recruited and equipped up to their full standard of efficiency and placed on a war footing in the event of war with Mexico.

Captain E. L. D. Breckinridge, military inspector for the government, who is in Lexington, was sent a telegram early this morning by Assistant Secretary of War Henry S. Breckinridge stating that orders had been given for complete equipment for Kentucky Brigade to be shipped to Ft. Thomas, Ky., at once, from which point it will be distributed to various regiment headquarters.

YOU MAY GET WAR CALL

Here's a tip that may be of interest to you:

In a war with Mexico, any or all of 22,000,000 citizens, between the ages of 18 and 45, may be called for army service by the President.

He is authorized to draft them under the Dick militia law, which not only empowers the President to call out the regularly organized State militia for service, either within or without the country, but also places what is known as the "reserve militia" at his command.

Failure to obey this summons may be punished by a court-martial, which shall fix penalty.

The penalty in time of war may be death.

COL PHIL CHINN MAKES A BUSINESS VISIT TO PARIS.

Col. Phil Chinn, the well-known Mercer county horseman, was in Paris Saturday on business. Col. Chinn recently returned from Mexico where he had a string of horses at the Juarez track and while here related several stories of his experience while in the revolution ridden country. While in Juarez, Col. Chinn made the acquaintance of General Villa, the leader of the revolutionary forces and became very intimate with him. He told a story of manner in which the bandit-general dealt with offenders and of his efforts to rule with iron hand.

At the time there were a large number of rebel soldiers in and around Juarez, and these frequently became intoxicated. Strict orders were issued by Villa to the keepers of saloons not to sell the soldiers intoxicants,

SCHOOL FAIR IN PARIS HELD WITH MUCH SUCCESS

Large Crowd Attracted and Exhibits Are Pronounced
Excellent

MILLERSBURG WINS
TWELVE PRIZES

Addresses Made By Well-Known Educators---Premiums Awarded

The Bourbon county school fair held at the court house Friday attracted a large crowd, and the event was a great success.

The articles submitted by the pupils of the various schools in the county were attractively displayed in the office of the county superintendent, and would have done credit to a State exhibit. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, who was an interested visitor Friday morning, was greatly pleased and said that she had seen no better exhibit anywhere.

The Millersburg school, which is the largest public school in the county outside of Paris, captured twelve first and second prizes. After lunch at Stout's the crowd assembled in the Circuit Court room for an entertaining program. Miss Robbins presided and introduced the speakers. Prof. Elliott, of Clintonville, gave the welcome address, and was followed by Mr. Eubank, editor of the Southern School Journal; Dr. Terrell and Dr. Melcher, of State University, and Prof. T. A. Hendricks, superintendent of the Paris Public Schools.

The following is a list of the prizes awarded:

Best Specimen of Freehand Drawing—Dallas Poe, Clays Cross Roads School, first; Millersburg, second.

Best Map of North America—Ethel Jones, Millersburg, first; Reynolds Bell, Clays Cross Roads, second.

Best Map of U. S.—Christine Keller, Kiserston, first; Ruth Johnson, Millersburg, second.

Best Set of Copy Books—Kiserston School, first.

Best Set of Arithmetic Papers—George McLeod, Centerville, first; Christine Keller, Kiserston, second.

Best Set of Language Papers—Christine Keller, Kiserston, first; Millie Gillispie, North Middletown, second.

Best Composition on Care of Teeth—Millie Gillispie, North Middletown, first; Irene Ryles, Jacksonville, second.

Best Made Apron—Centerville School, first; Ruth Johnson, Millersburg, second.

Best Made Waist—Cunningham School, first; Lena Cook, Millersburg, second.

Best Made Dust Cap—Louise McWhorters, Millersburg, first; Lena Stewart, North Middletown, second.

Best Specimen of Embroidery—Centerville School, first; Ruth Johnson, Millersburg, second.

Best Specimen of Hemstitching—Centerville School, first; Ruth Johnson, Millersburg, second.

Best Specimen of Crocheting—Louise McWhorters, Millersburg, Sadie Hudnall, second.

Best Specimen of Tatting—Aurel Campbell, Melvaine School, first; Tarr School, second.

Best Specimen of Knitting—Clay's Cross Roads, first; Ethel Jones, Millersburg, second.

Best Specimen of Beed Work—Mamie Wagoner, Spears Mill, first; Bird Hynes, Spears Mill, second.

Best Specimen of Paper Cutting by Boy—Tarr School, first; Will G. Mitchell, Millersburg, second.

Best Specimen of Paper Weaving—Thelma Hill, Tarr School, first; Lillian Martin, Tarr School, second.

Best Specimen of Reed and Raffia Work—Walter Wells, Spears Mill, first; Colville School, second.

Best Specimen of Woodwork—Arthur Christman, Ford's Mill, School, first; Hill School, second.

Best Specimen on Gardens and Flowers—Jennie Rankin, Millersburg, first; Louise Wilcox, Ford's Mill, second; Josephine Shawhan, Centerville, third.

It will be noted from the above list of awards that quite a number of prizes were awarded in the name of the school from which the exhibit came. This is due to the fact that the work was sent in the name of the school, without the student's name being attached.

but later the violation of the order became very flagrant, and a large number of his soldiers were found on the streets in a drunken condition.

By order of Villa the soldiers were arrested and placed under guard. They were forced to tell where they obtained the intoxicants, which resulted in the arrest of twenty-eight saloon keepers.

These were confined in prison for a few days and then shot. Col. Chinn received an invitation from the rebel leader to attend the execution, but declined to be a witness.

Keeping the Body in Repair

Nature intended that the body should do its own repairing—and it would do so were it not for the fact that most of us live other than a natural life.

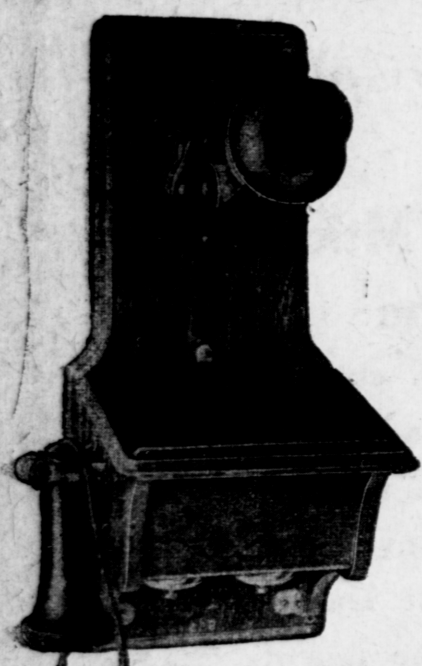

Nature didn't intend that we should wear corsets, tight collars or shoes, nor live in badly ventilated and draughty houses, nor eat and drink some of the things that we do, nor ride in street cars when we should walk. The consequence is that the body when it gets out of order must look for outside help to make the necessary repairs.

FIRST VIRGINIANS WERE NOT BLUE BLOODS.

(Edward Alsworth Ross, professor of sociology, University of Wisconsin, in the Century Magazine.)

Cain prompted the peopling of Virginia, and that colony received its share of human chaff. The council of Virginia early complained that "it hurteth to suffer parents to disburden themselves of lascivious sons, masters of bad servants and wives of ill husbands, and so clogge of the English or Irish laboring class sold himself for a term into the tobacco fields in order to come within reach of beckoning opportunity; but we knew, too, that the stums and alleys were raked for material to fatten the plantations. Hard-hearted men sold dependent kinsfolk to serve in the colonies. Kidnappers smuggled over boys and girls gathered from the streets of London and Bristol. About 1670, no fewer than 10,000 persons were 'spirited' from England in one year. The government was slow to strike at the infamous traffic, for, as was urged in Parliament, 'the plantations cannot be maintained without a considerable number of white servants.'

Dr. Johnson deemed the Americans "a race of convicts," who "ought to be content with anything we allow them short of hanging." In the first century of the colonies, gallows' birds were often given the option of servitude in the plantations. Some prayed to be hanged instead. In 1717 the British Government entered on the policy of general transportation and thenceforth discharged certain classes of felons upon the colonies until the Revolution made it necessary to shunt the muddy stream to Botany Bay. New England happily escaped these "seven-year passengers," because she would pay little for them and because she had no tobacco to serve as a profitable return cargo. It is estimated that between 1750 and 1770, 20,000 British convicts were exported to Maryland alone, so that even the schoolmasters there were mostly of this stripe. The colonies bitterly resented such cargoes, but their self-protective measures were regularly disallowed by the home government. American scholars are becoming to accept the British estimate that about 50,000 convicts were marketed on this side.

It is astonishing how quickly this "yellow streak" in the population faded. No doubt the worst felons were promptly hanged, so that those transported were such as excited the compassion of the court in an age that recognized nearly 300 capital offenses. Then, too, the bulk were probably the unfortunate, or the victims of bad surroundings, rather than born malefactors. Under the regenerative stimulus of opportunity, many persons reformed and became good citizens. A like purification of sewage by free land was later witnessed in Australia. The incorrigible, when they did not slip back to their old haunts, forsook the tide-water belt to lead half-savage lives in the wilderness. Here they slew one another or were strung up by "regulators," so that they breed their kind less freely than the honest. Thus bad strains tended to run out, and in the making of our people the criminals had no share corresponding to their original numbers. Blended with the dregs from the rest of the population, the convicts who were lazy and shiftless rather than criminal, became progenitors of the "poor whites," "crackers" and "sandhillers" that still cumber the poorer lands of the Southern Appalachians.

JUST IN TIME

Some Paris People May Wait Till It Is Too Late.

Don't wait until too late. Be sure to be in time. Just in time with kidney pills. Means curing the backache, the dizziness, the urinary disorders. That so often come with kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for this very purpose. Here is testimony to prove their merit.

Mrs. B. F. Ball, 718 Lancaster St., Lexington, Ky., says: "One of our family was sick for three months from kidney trouble and a lame back. He had sharp pains in his back and was so lame and sore that he could not turn in bed without help. His limbs ached night and day and they swelled badly. His head ached and he often got dizzy. He was irritable and had trouble from irregular passages of the kidney secretions. If the secretions stood a little while there was a dark sediment deposited. He doctored and tried all kinds of kidney remedies, but nothing helped him until he used Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes drove all the trouble away."

Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ball recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, New York. (adv)

The amalgamation of the Nigerias, British West Africa, took place on January 1, 1914, uniting about 18,000,000 of the more advanced and progressive natives of the continent with a rich territory of quite 330,000 square miles. There are within this territory a number of ancient, well-built walled towns, some having as many as 200,000 and 300,000 inhabitants.

"TIZ" EASES TIRED, SORE, SWOLLEN FEET. Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunions-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel all tired out—just try "TIZ." It's grand—Your feet will dance with joy; no more pain in corns, callouses and bunions. There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire. (No. 3-fri)

AMERICAN TOBACCO INDUSTRY HIGHLY SPECIALIZED.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 13.—Each important tobacco district of the United States produces a type of tobacco for special purposes of manufacture or export. The methods of growing and handling a crop must vary according to the type of leaf desired, and therefore according to the particular districts where it is grown. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has just issued a bulletin on "Tobacco Culture," which recommends methods for the production of various American types.

The bulletin emphasizes the fact that overproduction in a constant menace in all the established centers of tobacco growing and that the development of the industry in new sections on a large scale is hardly advisable at present. Another reason why tobacco culture in untried sections may result in failure is that the leaf produced will not be quite right in type, and therefore it will not find a satisfactory market.

The commercial value of tobacco is influenced to a greater degree by particular soil and climatic conditions than is that of almost any other important crop. This has caused the industry to become highly specialized and the trade looks regularly to well-defined areas for the various types of leaf it requires.

As tobacco grows readily over so large an area it is strange that many farmers experiment with it and often secure seeming success. That is, the plants grow readily but when it comes time to sell the crop the farmer can find no market.

"I have grown five acres of tobacco," a farmer writes from a district where tobacco is not grown for the commercial trade. "But there seems to be no market. Can the Department of Agriculture help me?"

The Department can only advise this farmer that conditions are such that even though his product appear to be of good quality he will probably be unable to market it, as the trade does not recognize his section as a tobacco-producing area. Here we have the difference emphasized between tobacco and a crop like corn for which a market may readily be found no matter where it is grown if the quality is good.

There are three general classes of tobacco described in the new bulletin:

- (1) Cigar tobaccos.
- (2) Export tobaccos.
- (3) Manufacturing tobaccos.

By manufacturing tobaccos are meant all types used in manufacture other than cigars. The manufacturing and export classes, however, have much in common as regards cultural methods, and some types are used for manufacturing and for export; therefore these two classes are considered together as distinguished from the cigar tobaccos.

Each of these three classes of tobacco may be subdivided into types, depending on their special uses, methods of growing and curing, or on the variety of seed used. In the case of cigar tobaccos there are three principal types, corresponding to the three parts of the cigar—wrapper leaf, binder leaf, and filler leaf. In the manufacturing and export tobaccos are such types as the flue-cured, Virginia sun-cured, White Burley, dark fire-cured, etc. These various types are produced on certain special types of soil and according to definite methods of growing, curing and handling the crop. In some cases the variety of seed used is also an important factor. The special uses of the principal type embraced in the three fundamental classes of tobacco are brought out in connection with the cultural directions for the more important types.

A typical district for the culture of cigar tobacco is the Connecticut valley. The new bulletin outlines briefly the best cultural methods for this region. Detailed instructions are given on care of the seed bed, preparing and fertilizing the land, transplanting and cultivating and harvesting.

The export and manufacturing types of tobacco are grown mainly in Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, West Virginia, Southern Ohio and Southeastern Indiana. Best methods for the culture of the various types are explained in the new bulletin.

One of the most troublesome and expensive features of tobacco culture, particularly in the Southern districts, is the control of numerous insects, which if not combated would often-times completely destroy the commercial value of the crop. Among the important insects attacking the tobacco plant may be mentioned the tobacco flea-bettle, the tobacco "wire-worm," cutworm, the hornworm, or "green worms," are usually the most destructive.

For detailed information regarding insects attacking tobacco and methods of combating them the reader is referred to Farmers' Bulletin 120, entitled "The Principal Insects Affecting the Tobacco Plant." The new bulletin "Tobacco Culture" is Farmers' Bulletin 571, and either of these publications may be obtained free by application to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

LEXINGTON PAPER EXTENDS COMPLIMENT TO J. Q. WARD

Editorially the Lexington Leader of Sunday says:

"Every man, woman and child in Kentucky who is in love with life and fond of God's great out-of-doors, owes an eternal debt of gratitude to J. Quincy Ward, of Bourbon county.

"He who multiplies the fishes in the streams, the birds in the woods and the deer in the forests is as great a benefactor of his race as the man who makes 'two blades of grass grow where only one blade grew before.'

"With Mr. Ward this is surely a labor of love, for certainly there is no money and less joy in struggling with the obstacles which have beset his pathway since he first entered upon the task of making the rivers and the fields of old Kentucky once more a delight to all lovers of nature.

"And in protecting the fish and the game from the murderous assaults of the pot hunter, no less than in the work of replenishing the supply, has Mr. Ward and his county wardens increased the debt of gratitude resting upon the genuine sportsman.

"There is no land on earth more favorable than Kentucky to the propagation of fish and game. Most of the creeks and rivers ramble along through limestone hills and over gravelly beds and sandy bars, with here and there 'ledges' and 'pot holes' and 'riffles,' amid which the small-mouth black bass—inches for inches the gamest thing that moves—delights to chase its prey. Then there are mountains and forests and thickets and fields where deer and quail and pheasant should grow and increase free from molestation except during the legal open season.

"Mr. Ward knows what these things mean to men 'who, in the love of nature, hold communion with her visible form,' for he, too, has spent many a day whipping the Cumberland in and about 'Shad Shoals' and 'Punkin Hole,' and 'the gill-net hole,' striking a rascally bass here, stopping there to listen to the notes of a vagrant wood thrush, and halting now and then to feast his eyes upon the wild riot of purple and green and gold with which the artist, Nature, in spilling her store of autumn coloring, has decorated the limestone hills.

"And there are two-legged brutes in the world who, but for such gentle and yet courageous souls as Quincy Ward, would desecrate scenes like this with dynamite and net and trap!

"Long life and health, good Sir Quincy; and when at last the summons comes for you to join the silent army of the departed anglers—may old Izaak himself meet you at the portals of Paradise and pray the Almighty that the few small sins which all fishermen, under due provocation, commit now and then, may not be remembered against you!"

COLONIAL COMPANY ISSUES NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

The Colonial Amusement Company wishes to offer an apology for the failure of "The Three Keatons" and "Paul LaCroix and Company" to appear and put on their act at the vaudeville performance last Thursday evening.

The management had a contract with the Ben Ali Theatre managers for seven acts of Keith Vaudeville to appear in Paris last Thursday evening just the same as they were to perform in the Ben Ali Theatre Lexington. At the last minute the "Three Keatons" refused to work, as they claimed their contract called for a performance at the Ben Ali only. "Paul LaCroix and Company" did not want to work because of the same contract. LaCroix finally agreed to go on alone, but it would have been better if we had left him off the bill, as he was not in condition to work. Had the Grand management known earlier in the day the entire show would have been cancelled and money refunded to our patrons. It occurred at the time when the show had started, very much to our sorrow. We wish to assure the citizens of Paris that in the future if Keith Vaudeville appears here we will have a guarantee that all the acts will go on and be put on as best they can.

DEATHS

HUTCHISON.

—After an illness of several months of Bright's disease, Mr. John Hutchison, aged 51 years, died at the Massie Memorial Hospital, Friday morning, at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Hutchison lived on Scott avenue, and was an employee at the Louisville and Nashville freight depot. He was an industrious man, faithful to his duties, and liked by all who knew him. He was seriously ill several weeks ago, at the hospital, but became better and was removed to his home. Growing worse he returned to the hospital about a week ago, where he steadily grew weaker and died after intense suffering. He is survived by his wife and five children, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The burial took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Paris cemetery, the services at the grave being conducted by the Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive.

LOVELL.

—Little Herbert Lovell, aged eighteen months, was buried in the Paris cemetery Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the body having been brought from Lexington, where the baby died at the home of its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lovell, who formerly resided near Paris. The little one was a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Lovell, who reside near this city, on the Hume & Bedford pike, and was a great pet with them. His death was unusually sad and much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

SUBSCRIPTION REACH $4,000 FOR NICHOLAS MODEL ROAD

A campaign is being pushed in Nicholas county to raise by popular subscription $10,000 to be used in rebuilding the turnpike from Moorefield to Millersburg via Carlisle. U. D. C. CHAPTER HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING

The April meeting of the Richard Hawes Chapter, U. D. C., was held Saturday at the Confederate room in the court house, with Mrs. William G. Talbot presiding. A very interesting program was rendered, consisting of a paper on General P. T. Beauregard, by Mrs. Charles Goldstein, and one on General Jubal Anderson Early, by Mrs. J. D. Burnough, followed by a number of anecdotes regarding General Early, read by Mrs. J. T. Vansant. An offering was taken for the benefit of the Beauregard monument to be erected at Mayfield, Ky. The Chapter voted to send a contribution toward the equestrian statue of General Stonewall Jackson, at Richmond, Va., the same to be sent by the Colonel George M. Edgar, who was a comrade of General Jackson.

Mrs. R. J. Neely reported $30 realized from the sale recently conducted by the Daughters, and also mentioned some beautiful articles which were contributed to the sale by Mrs. John A. Hanly and Mrs. Sarah Short Barnes of Kansas City, daughters of Mrs. Sarah Short, who was a devoted member of the Richard Hawes Chapter.

Mrs. H. H. Hancock and daughter, Miss Frances, Mrs. Thomas McDonald and Mrs. Russell Mann are planning to go to the Confederate reunion at Jacksonville, Fla. The meeting was followed by a social hour, during which Mrs. C. C. Leer and Miss Carroll Leer, hostesses, assisted by Miss Frances Clarke, served delicious ice cream and cake. The May meeting will be a children's meeting under the direction of Mrs. Russell Mann.

NEWPORT GETS BERTH IN OHIO STATE LEAGUE.

Mr. William Shire, of this city, returned from Cincinnati Friday, where he went to confer with the Ohio State League magnates in regard to placing the ball team from Hamilton in this city. He also met President Garry Herrman and the matter was discussed.

According to Mr. Shire, the representatives of the Ohio State League, made a proposition to turn over the Hamilton franchise to Paris provided the sum of $4,000 would be raised. This proposition Mr. Shire declined, preferring to wait another season, before making an effort to again launch base ball in Paris. At the conclusion of the meeting it was decided to place Newport in the League.

FORMER RAILROAD MAN
MAKES VISIT TO PARIS.

Col. James Arnold, of Cincinnati, one of the most widely known railroad men in the South, was a visitor in Paris Friday and Saturday. Col. Arnold, who was a gallant Confederate soldier, was mingling with his old comrades here and incidentally boosting the Queen & Crescent route, which will conduct excursions to the reunion of the Confederate veterans at Jacksonville, Fla. Col. Arnold is on the retired list and receives a pension from the railroad for which he was for thirty-two years a traveling passenger agent. The feeling of interest in this city. He is an honorary member of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, having had this honor conferred upon him one year ago. He was retired at the age of seventy-two, being retained in the employ of the railroad company two years longer than any other employees now on the retired list.

COUNTRY HOME OF JOHN SKILLMAN DESTROYED BY FIRE

Saturday morning the country home of Mr. John Skillman, near Cane Ridge, was destroyed by fire, together with most of its contents. Mr. and Mrs. Skillman were en route to Paris Saturday morning, and when nearing the city they met Mr. Frank Skillman, a brother of Mr. Skillman, who resides in this city, and who had been notified by telephone of the fire. Returning they found their comfortable home, which they had left but a short time before, reduced to ashes. Little was saved from the building. The fire originated from a kitchen stove. The house was a two story stone structure with frame addition and all that remains standing is the walls. Neighbors did what they could to save the furniture in the building, but with little result. Mr. Skillman carried no insurance either on the building or the contents.

—Mme. Schumann-Heink is a great favorite with our music-loving people, who never miss an opportunity to hear her magnificent voice.

—Friday evening at the Bourbon Female College the annual reception was given by the members of the Senior Class.

The large building gleamed with many lights, and the beautiful rooms and halls were rendered still more attractive by the graceful arrangement of handsome plants and spring flowers. The guests were received by the five young ladies who compose the Senior class, and the members of the faculty, all handsomely gowned and carrying arm bouquets of fragrant flowers. In the receiving line were Miss Catherine Thomson, the charming young daughter of the principal, Mrs. M. G. Thomson, Misses Mary Elliot, Della Buchanan, Nannette Wallingford, Margaret Ardery and Eula Calvert, all of Paris; and Miss Vandersdale, Mrs. Harp, Miss Waters, Miss Warford, Miss Ingleson and Miss Kennedy, of the faculty. The party colors were yellow and white and were carried out in the refreshments, which consisted of individual ices moulded as flowers, cakes and bonbons. The favors were jonquils attached to cards by yellow ribbons. Music was furnished by a Lexington orchestra, and the evening was happily spent by about one hundred and 50 guests from Paris, Lexington, Millersburg, North Middletown, etc. A number of M. M. I. students attended the reception, which was one of the handsomest ever given at this time-honored institution.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT WILL RECOVER FROM HIS INJURIES.

Budgie Snapp, the ten-year-old son of Mr. John C. Snapp, who resides on the Lexington pike, on the Willis Wright place, was accidentally shot by one of his playmates Saturday afternoon, and seriously wounded.

The boy was out playing with several friends, one of whom had a rifle of small caliber, which was accidentally discharged the bullet taking effect in young Snapp's stomach.

Mr. Bert Rash, of North Middletown, who was enroute from Lexington to Paris in his automobile, noticed the boys dragging another of their number and seeing their distress stopped to render assistance. After he had been informed the youth had been shot he placed him in the automobile and rushed to the Massie Memorial Hospital in this city.

The name of the boy who did the shooting is being withheld and later an investigation will be made. Reports from the hospital last night were to the effect that young Snapp was getting along as well as could be expected, and that he would probably recover.

HOW A BOY LOST THE MAGNIFICENT SUM OF $12,000

In the May Woman's Home Companion appears a very interesting article entitled "The Safeguarding of the Child," by Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau in the United States Department of Labor. In the course of the article Miss Lathrop shows the importance of the registration of births. She makes the point that thousands of children's lives could be saved if in the first few hours of life they could have proper attention. She also proves that in the United States no proper records are kept of births. In the following extract from her articles she tells the story of a case where the failure to register the birth of a child cost the mother dearly:

"The importance of a birth record is very well illustrated by the case, recently brought to the attention of the Children's Bureau, of a young Swiss immigrant who, coming to this country and settling in Indiana, was killed, leaving a widow and infant child. The mother, in dire poverty, had trouble to keep herself and baby alive by scrubbing and sewing. One day there came to her an official letter from the Government of Switzerland, stating that her late husband's brother had left twelve thousand dollars to this child. All that was demanded was proof of identity, with the customary birth certificate. But there was no such certificate, and the much-needed money was lost.

"Another instance of this kind, likewise in Indiana, had to do with a farm which was left to a girl by her grandfather. Being twenty-one years of age she was entitled to the property. But a dispute arose. Her father, who had the use of the farm during her minority, claimed that she was only nineteen. There was no birth certificate to prove her age. But, happily, a neighbor remembered that a valuable cow belonging to the grandfather, had given birth to a calf on the same day that the girl was born. The birth of the calf had been duly recorded, and, this evidence being accepted by the court, the young woman obtained possession of her farm."

TREE SEED INDUSTRY BECOMING PROFITABLE

Collecting and marketing tree seed is becoming a profitable industry and State Forester J. E. Barton, who, with Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman, have been to Raywick, Marion county, to address an agricultural rally, took up that question with the Marion county farmers, and instructed them in the methods of marketing and handling the seeds. Mr. Barton said this industry is important in connection with the subject of reforestation, as the seeds of native trees always do better than those shipped from other places.

H. F. Price, of Catlettsburg, district forest warden, was in Frankfort and reported the organization of forestry clubs in Magoffin and Elliott counties. These clubs are for the purpose of arousing local interest in conservation and protection of forested areas.

MR. WARREN BACON DOING GOOD WITH LOCANDA IN SOUTH

Mr. Warren A. Bacon, formerly of this city, now of Prairieville, Ala., is doing a great business with the great stallion, Locanda, in the South.

There are those who predicted that such a horse as Locanda would not be appreciated in the South. That is, the people there would not pay enough for the services of a high-class horse.

Thirty-eight local mares have already been booked to Locanda, at the unprecedented price for that section of $50 to insure.

Two mares from Cincinnati have also been sent to his court, and Mr. Bacon is confident the number sent to his horse will pass the half hundred mark before May days come.

Such conditions do not exist in all sections of the South, however, but Mr. Bacon is nicely settled in an excellent section of the famous Black Belt, where the people have always been prosperous enough to buy what they wanted, and have loved good horses since the days of the Red Men. It is a country similar to that where the McCurdy's of The Tramp fame live and breed good horses. There is no reason why with Bermuda pasture alfalfa and Johnson grass hay that a country whose soil is richer in carbonate of lime than any other in the world should not raise as good horses as Kentucky or Tennessee.

In the home of Andrew Jackson, of Fairfield, Mo., there is a clock that is more than 180 years old, which tells the phases of the moon as well as the days of the month.

AT THE PEEP OF DAY

Robinson's Famous Shows Trains Will Arrive.

Older people are inclined to laugh at the small boy who arises at 4 a. m., on circus day and hies to the railroad yards to see the show unload. But if they only knew it little Johnnie has the best of the game. He is able to see many things that the older ones miss, things that are really interesting, even thrilling.

Few people realize the wonderful system that enables a big organization like Robinson's Famous Shows to be moved from one city to another, get ready and give two performances in one day, and get out of town without friction or accident, leaving not even a tent stake of the entire paraphernalia as a reminder of their visit.

It is marvelous to watch the skillful unloading of the enormous wagons, dens and tableaux without a hitch or a moment's delay; to see the big, handsome horses take their places like clockwork; to see the elephants push wagons in place, lift immense center poles, and perform other duties where their measureless strength comes into play.

Older people might follow little Johnnie's example with profit. Just try it once on the morning of Wednesday, April 29, when Robinson's Famous Shows will arrive by the L. & N. railroad and give two performances, in this city, at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m.

FOREST LANDS ARE PUT TO MANY USES.

Almost every conceivable use to which land may be put is represented in the permits reported by the Forest Service for special projects on the National forests. Some of the uses shown range, alphabetically, from apiary through brickyard, cannery, cemetery, church, cranberry marsh, fox range, marine railway, rifle range and turpentine still, to wharf and whaling station.

There are 15,000 permits in force for such special uses, which are distributed geographically from Alaska to the Mexican line, and east to Florida. This figure does not include any of the 27,000 permits in force for grazing cattle and sheep on the forests; nor the 6,000 transactions for the sale of timber, and the more than 38,000 permits issued last year for the free use of timber by settlers, miners and others in developing their homesteads and claims; nor the nearly 300 permits for water power development.

California led all the National forest States in the number of these special use permits, followed by Arizona, Colorado, Montana and New Mexico in the order named. The largest single class of permits was for special pastures, or corrals, to be used for lambing grounds, shearing pens, and the like. Next came rights of way for conduits, ditches and flumes, practically all of these being free. Various agricultural permits come third, telephone lines fourth with more than a thousand permits for 6,500 miles of line, and drift fences for the control of grazing animals, fifth. In both of these latter classes, too, practically all of the permits were issued for the occupation of more than 100,000 acres come sixth. The rest of the uses are large number of apiaries, camps, summer hotels and schools. The use of the government's lands for schools is given free; for hotels a charge is made.

The principle which governs the charge is based, according to the forest service, on whether or not the use of the land is sought by the permittee for a commercial purpose. If it is the intent of the user to make money from resource which belongs to the whole people, the service holds that he should give a reasonable return for that use. If, on the other hand, farmers want to use government land for their own telephone lines, irrigation works and schools, the government gives them that use without cost.

The Viceroy of India has just completed a tour through the various districts of the Empire, concluding with visit to Calcutta. No functions were held in the city itself, and even the university convocation was held at the Government House. No crowds were permitted to congregate in the streets on the route followed by the Viceregal procession, and the thoroughfares were heavily guarded by police and soldiers.

COLONIAL COMPANY ISSUES NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The Colonial Amusement Company wishes to offer an apology for the failure of "The Three Keatons" and "Paul LaCroix and Company," to appear and put on their act at the vaudeville performance last Thursday evening.

The management had a contract with the Ben Ali Theatre managers for seven acts of Keith Vaudeville to appear in Paris last Thursday evening just the same as they were to perform in the Ben Ali Theatre, Lexington. At the last minute the "Three Keatons" refused to work, as they claimed their contract called for a performance at The Ben Ali only. "Paul La Croix and Company" did not want to work because of the same contract. LaCroix finally agreed to go on alone, but it would have been better if we had left him off the bill, as he was not in condition to work. Had the Grand management known earlier in the day the entire show would have been cancelled and money refunded to our patrons. It occurred at the time when the show had started, very much to our sorrow. We wish to assure the citizens of Paris that in the future if Keith Vaudeville appears here we will have a guarantee that all the acts will go on and be put on as best they can.

YELLOW POPLAR CAN BE GROWN PROFITABLY.

Yellow poplar, one of the finest and the largest of American broadleaf trees, can be grown profitably in the timber tracts of the Southern Appalachians. This conclusion is set forth in a report written by W. W. Ashe, of the forest service and recently published by the geological survey of Tennessee.

An investment in young yellow poplar stands will yield 4 per cent. compound interest. In addition to this there is a profitable, though indeterminate, return to the natural increase in stumpage prices. This increase, based on average-sized yellow poplar trees, has amounted during the past 20 years to 13 per cent. compounded annually.

There is more lumber produced from yellow poplar than from any other Southern hardwood except oak. The commercial range of the tree is restricted mainly to the Southern Appalachian Mountain of the Virginias, Carolinas, Kentucky and Tennessee, where it grows to more than 100 feet high and over five feet in diameter. Some specimens in Virginia nearly 200 feet high and 10 feet through.

The wood itself has the same general characteristics as that of white pine, and its range of uses is about the same. Each is utilized for almost anything not requiring great strength or toughness.

The qualities which favor the extensive use of poplar, its lack of odor, its straight grain, its lack of knots, its readiness with which it takes paint, and the ease with which it can be worked. Doors, paneling, packing boxes, type cases, drawers, kitchen woodenware and toys are made large of yellow poplar. In Tennessee wooden mixing bowls are turned out in sizes up to 4 feet in diameter from one piece of wood. Yellow poplar stands well in situations exposed to the weather, as in pumps, outside steps, shingles and fencing. It is not durable in contact with the soil, though it can be readily treated with preservatives.

From the earliest times it has been used in making dug-out canoes, for which it is especially suited since it is easily worked and is light. In this capacity the tree did yeoman service in the early Indian wars of the South. In 1779, an attack upon the Carolinian frontier was threatened by Indians who assembled near Chattanooga. Isaac Shelby, one of the pioneer leaders, had 5-foot trunks of yellow poplar hewed into canoes, in which he took his 750 men down the Hudson River to attack the tribes.

The wood lacks odor and this quality, according to the report, permits of its extensive use for containers for butter, cheese and other food stuffs, and for refrigerators.

Its straight grain adapts it to the making of matches, and the ease with which it takes glue makes it useful as a cord wood upon which more expensive veneers can be placed. It makes a very good paper pulp.

The tree grows best on a good, moist soil; when grown on dry soil the wood is likely to be harder and to consist largely of light-colored sapwood. It will not pay, however, to grow it on rich agricultural bottom lands, which will bring higher returns from cultivation of farm crops. For timber production, therefore, it should be grown upon the slopes and coves between the bottom lands and the dry heights.

The report states that the days of the old trees are numbered and that, for this reason, it is desirable to pay more attention to the second growth. The second growth, though not to be compared with the old giant trees which are practically all hardwood, still makes valuable lumber. So far as known, the tree is not subject to severe injury either from disease or insects. Its chief enemy is the one common to all forest growths in the Southeastern States—fire.

One important point particularly accentuated in the report is that poplar stands should be properly thinned. Such thinnings should yield a money return and at the same time increase the value of the stand when it matures. In thinning the aim should be to give the tree plenty of room for light and growth, and this will mean fewer trees, each one with a large value, rather than many small trees of less value. This is shown strikingly in the report, which says that it will be far more profitable to have 70 trees on an acre with average diameters of 20 inches than 160 trees with diameters of 15 inches. The 20-inch trees have a stumpage value of $3.61 each, while the 15-inch trees have a stumpage value of only 83 cents apiece. The acre of large trees, therefore, will be worth about $120 more than the other.

New Station at Rowland.

Lancaster—The Louisville & Nashville is just completing at Rowland, about eight miles south of this place, a handsome station. It contains both passenger and freight accommodations. Rowland is a large shipping point for cattle and is at the junction of the Knoxville and K. C. divisions.

Trial Continued

Mt. Sterling—The trial of Ernest Arnett, charged with the murder of Lee Patrick, in Magoffin county, and wrought here on a change of venue, was continued by Special Judge Marshall, of Shelbyville, until the September term of court, on account of the absence of witnesses and of Edward P. Morrow, who was to assist in the prosecution. The dead man was a brother of former United States Marshal Asbury Patrick. All concerned are prominent. There were about witnesses here to attend the trial.

Denied New Trial.

Paducah—Judge Gordon in the Livingston Circuit Court overruled the extraordinary motion of James Wellington, alias Wells, for a new trial. This is the second time a new trial has been denied Wells, who is under life imprisonment sentence. The court will join with counsel in asking the Court of Appeals to grant an extension of time in which to pass on new evidence, which consists of five affidavits made by prominent Livingston county people. Wells was convicted over a year ago for the murder of Frank Longnecker, a Cincinnati, whose badly decomposed body was found on Rodeau Island December 26, 1912.

Fighting Trachoma in Kentucky.

Lexington—The United States Government is making a strong effort to stamp out trachoma, the dreaded eye disease of the Kentucky mountains, the work being directed from a central office located in this city, under the direction of Dr. John Mullen. To this end a new hospital for the treatment of trachoma has just been opened at Beattyville, Dr. Mullen for the present being in charge, with three trained nurses from this city, Misses Hicks, Blake and Berry. Two similar hospitals have been previously located in that part of the State—one at Hindman, Knott county, and the other at Hyden, Leslie county. These hospitals are so situated as to serve an area of approximately 50 to 100 miles.

Dr. J. A. Stucky, two trained nurses and Miss Linda Neville will leave on April 24 for Oneida, Clay county, going to hold a clinic for examination and treatment of eye and ear diseases of the children of the school and surrounding country.

They go by invitation of the Oneida Baptist Institute, and with the co-operation of the Clay county physicians, and the clinic will be held in the three-room pavilion, which is the beginning of the hospital in which the Bobby Burns Children's ward is to be a part. A large part of the expenses of this institution will be borne by the Kentucky Home School. By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chicago, Ill.—"I must thank you with all my heart for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to go to my doctor for pills and remedies and they did not help me. I had headaches and could not eat, and the doctor claimed I had female trouble and must have an operation. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it and feel fine. A lady said one day, 'Oh, I feel so tired all the time and have headaches.' I said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' and she did and feels fine now."—Mrs. M. R. KARSCHNICK, 1438 N. Paulina Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The Other Case. Dayton, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of pains in my side that I had for years and which doctors' medicines failed to relieve. It has certainly saved me from an operation. I will be glad to assist you by a personal letter to any woman in the same condition."—Mrs. J. W. SHERER, 125 Cass St., Dayton, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, the hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

—Misses Ann Woods and Irene Tackett, who have been under treatment at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington, returned Friday evening, very much improved.

—The Senior and Junior classes of M. M. I., escorted by Captain Davis, took in the Senior and Junior reception of Bourbon Female College Friday night.

—Rev. George Green, of Louisville, Kentucky representative of the Judson Centennial Movement, preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

—Taylor & Redmon, who assumed the agency for the Case Automobile Company, Jan. 1, sold six of the machines during the past week. They delivered two last week to Messrs. Joe Plummer and Ellis Garrison.

—The Bible Class of the Presbyterian church gave a banquet in the basement of the church Thursday evening. Twenty-one out of the twenty-four members of the Bible Class were also present. The exercises were under the management of Rev. A. S. Venable, pastor of the church and teacher of the class. He also acted as toastmaster for the occasion. About eight o'clock all of the guests were present and were assigned their places at the various tables, and as soon as this was the program began. The program was opened by a song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," by the class, followed by a prayer, and welcome address by Thomas McClintock. The quartette composed of Cochran, Venable, Barnes and Herbert. The banquet was then served by the Pastors' Aid Society of the church, composed of thirty, twenty-five of whom were present. After the feast was over the program was then continued as follows: "How to Build Up a Men's Bible Class," by Mr. Shanklin; Quartette; "Value of Bible Study," Dr. B. M. Shive; Organ Solo, Capt. Freas; Subject selected, Rev. Verhulst; Quartette, Rev. Venable; Closing address, Pastor; Quartette. Rev. Venable made an excellent toastmaster, and quite a bit of humor was indulged in as he introduced each speaker. The addresses of Dr. Shive, of Paris, and Rev. Verhulst, of Carlisle, were especially good. The occasion was very enjoyable. The social feature of the Sunday school will be indulged in more frequently in the future than it has in the past.

—The opening game of the M. M. I. base ball team was played Saturday afternoon with the Lexington High School on the grounds of the latter. The score resulted 8 to 7 in favor of Lexington. Notwithstanding the fact that M. M. I. went down in defeat they played a brilliant game. The team is being coached by Capt. A. H. Miller, and the prospects are flattering for a good season. A complete schedule of the season will be announced later.

—The most brilliant piano recital given in Millersburg in years was the one given by Miss Alma Duke Jones, assisted by Miss Esther Thiele, Saturday evening at the M. F. C. auditorium, under the auspices of the McDowell Musical Club. Miss Jones being a Millersburg girl, and a promising young artist, naturally drew a large crowd. The audience began assembling early, and it was certainly an audience of culture. Miss Jones is a graduate in music of the M. F. C., and entered the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music last September. She was thought to be brilliant when she completed her course here, and every possible hope for her future has thus far been realized. Her improvement has indeed been very marked, and she gives promise of being one of the most brilliant pianists in Kentucky. This, too, in view of the fact that she is but eighteen years old. Miss Thiele, who is in the Conservatory with her, is certainly a promising young vocalist. She is but nineteen years old. The work done by both of these young ladies was that of artists. The program while classical, was not tedious. It was divided into five parts, two each for Miss Jones and Miss Thiele. The fifth part of the program was the most brilliant and the most difficult. Misses Jones and Thiele were the recipients of showers of compliments, and at the close of the entertainment an informal reception was held in the parlors of the College. So enthusiastic was the audience that most everyone present took advantage of this opportunity. They returned Monday to the Conservatory to resume their work, and appear in June concerts in Cincinnati, even more brilliantly than they did here on Saturday night.

LOCAL ICE COMPANY MAKING GOOD PRODUCT FOR CONSUMERS

Mr. W. R. Pinnell, bacteriologist of State University, Lexington, has just completed the analysis of a sample of melted ice sent him by a representative of the Paris Ice Manufacturing Company, in accordance with a government order. According to Mr. Pinnell the product furnished by the local company is very good and he submitted the following report of the analysis:

Bacteria per c. c. 74; Coli, none; B. Typists, none found; Lactose Bile fermentation tube, no gas in 48 hours; Dunhams tube, no indol in 6 days.

When a man does anything clever by accident his wife tells all the neighbors that she gave him the idea.

CHARITY.

There are some fellows in this land. I hate to say it, brother: Who give a dollar with one hand And grab two with the other.
